Brucelosis Control Program

Gains Momentum in Virginia

The time is now for farmers to take advantage of Virginia's brucellosis control program, advises Jim Smith, County Agent.

Many milk markets in the state have already set a date, or announced their intention of setting a date, after which all grade A milk must come from brucellosis-free cows.

Currently underway in Virginia is an intensification of the control program, made possible by Federal funds. Smith says each farm and each herd presents a separate problem. Therefore, the method of control cannot be rigid. It must be designed to meet the specific needs of the herd at hand. As a result, plans have been devised by the state veterinarian to cover almost any condition.

Under the present program, the Federal government will: (1) pay for testing any herd that has not had a negative blood test since November 1, 1953; (2) continue to test herds that have reactors until they have three negative tests 30 to 90 days apart (if the owner sells reactors for slaughter within 15 days after the animals are tagged and branded); and (3) make indemnity payments for reactor cattle (when they are removed from the herd during a prescribed period) with a maximum of $25 for grade cattle and $50 for purebred cattle, in addition to salvage value.

Plans are being formulated whereby each cattle owner in Appomattox County will have the opportunity for his cows to be tested and calves to be vaccinated.

..."How important is brucellosis control?" Smith puts it this way. "If you're a dairy farmer producing grade A milk, each infected cow will lose $85.80 for you. If you're producing ungraded milk, each infected cow loses $29.25."

These figures are based on the theory that the average cow in Virginia produced 4,500 pounds of milk. If she becomes infected, the production drops at least 20%.

It is estimated that 2.5% of the dairy cattle of Virginia's 460,000 head are infected. This is below the national average, but still makes up a whopping 10,330,000 pounds of milk that aren't there . . . because of brucellosis. Assuming the lost milk was grade A, that means a loss of $724,500; ungraded, $333,375. The acutal figure, of course, lies somewhere in between.

The losses enumerated are only in the dairy industry. In beef cattle the loss of a calk because of the disease amounts the loss of an entire year's profit, not just 20%.

News Around Town

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

I liked this one:

A decrepid horse was being offered to the highest bidder. An old farmer watched as a young man in riding breeches bid for the animal. When the sale was completed he turned to the young fellow. "Tell 'ee," he said, "what on earth you are going to do with that nag?"

"Oh," replied the cocky young sportsman, "I'm going to race him."

The farmer took a second look at the animal. "Well," he said, "you will win." —L & N Mag.

Carver-Price School News

Hello Readers! Only a few more days now before the last school bell rings. We feel a bit sad about it, too.

This year four of our former Carver students graduate from colleges; namely, Charles O. Jeffries, Curtis Marshall and Deaster Johnson from Virginia State College, and Donald Doss, from St. Paul Polytechic Institute. We are proud of these students. Monday May 30, at 11:00 A. M., Virginia State's commencement exercises will be held. St. Paul's Commencement was held last Monday.

Charles O. Jeffries, on Friday, May 20, at Virginia State College had his 2nd Lieutenant Bars pinned on. He will serve two years in the Paratroop Division of the Regular Army as a Commissioned Officer. He was Editor-in-Chief of the Yearbook, President of Alpa Kappa Mu Honor Society, and an Honor Roll Student.

On Tuesday, candidates running for the offices of President and Vice-President for next year's Student Council made campaign speeches in assembly, which were interesting and well presented. Those running for President were: Gloria Jenkins, Mary Goode, and Edward Walker; those running for Vice - President were: Roberta Lewis, and Celestine Chambers. The out-going President, Winston Jones, thanked the students for their cooperation and interest during his term of office. A report of the State Student Participation Association held recently in Farmville, was made by Sarah Harvey. The assembly closed with the student body anticipating the election on Monday for their officers. The wise choice of prospective officers was requested by Winston Jones, President, when exercising the power of vote on Monday. Mr. James H. Clay is sponsor.

The Senior Exams begin this Thursday and Friday. Senior privileges commence next Monday. My how we wish we were the honorable seniors! Regular Exams for the rest of us on June 1 and 2.

Senior Night exercises will be held on next Thursday evening, June 2, at 8:00 P. M. The general public is invited to attend.

The Tenth Grade Class holds its picnic at Prince Edward Lake this Saturday. They will travel by the Trailway Bus Service. This class does things up fine—such transportation! They will have all sorts of good things to eat at this grand picnic. Were any of you invited, classes?

And our thought to guide us through the week:

"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Another speaker from the distaff side will be Mrs. Randall W. Everett, Jr., of Arlington, State Safety Chairman of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Compliance On Wheat Acreage

Mr. C. S. Rush, Chairman of the Appomattox County ASC Committee, announced today that compliance with acreage allotments will be required no longer in order for farmers to be eligible to participate in the agricultural conservation program.

This results from the recent repeal of the Holland Amendment, which made compliance with all acreage allotments a condition for ACP cost-sharing.

Farmers must still comply with their allotments to be eligible for CCC loans or other price support and, in case of tobacco, peanuts, cotton, and wheat, to avoid marketing quota penalties. Marketing quotas are not applicable for corn or for wheat where 15 acres or less is grown.

Mr. Rush said that this legislation would benefit mainly the wheat growers with less than 15 acres and the corn growers in the commercial counties of Accomack, Isle of Wight, Nansemond, Norfolk, Northampton, Princess Anne, Southampton, Surry and Sussex, who may not be interested in price support on these commodities but who do wish to participate in the Agricultural Conservation Programs.

Wheat farmers, who are interested in CCC loans, and those with allotments of more than 15 acres are still urged to utilize any excess acres by cutting for hay, turning for green manure, or cutting for green silage before June 1.

To Close James River Bridge

The State Highway Department reminded motorists today that the James River bridge at Wingina on Route 56 will be closed June 1 for extensive repairs and strengthening.

As announced previously by the department, the road will be blocked for about three months, during which time traffic will be routed over other bridges across the James. The Wingina, Bent Creek and Howardsville crossings are the only bridges over the river between Lynchburg and Scottsville.

Signs will be posted marking one detour by Bent Creek, over US 60 and Route 151, and another by Howardsville over Routes 602 and 626.

The State Highway Commission in April awarded a $34,626 contract for strengthening the steel superstructure, replacing the present floor with a stronger wood deck, and replacing the wood joists with new steel beams. The bridge will then have a 35,000 pound rating.

A four-foot walkway will be provided for pedestrian traffic, which will be maintained at all times.
